Scott Madsen Retires from State of Colorado

Scott Madsen, Director of the Division of Central Services, recently retired after being with the State of Colorado for 15 years. A longtime member and past president of NCSFA, Madsen exemplified what it meant to be a fleet manager and mentor to others in the industry. Says Barb Bonansinga, State of Illinois Fleet Project Manager, “Scott has been a mentor throughout my career not only as an NCSFA past president but also for the expertise and insights he has always generously shared as a fellow state government fleet manager.” These same thoughts were echoed by Steve Saltzgeber, former NCSFA Executive Director and Scott Edwards, Colorado State Fleet Manager, as both stated Madsen’s professionalism, leadership and mentoring will be missed but never forgotten. Edwards went on to say that Madsen’s “decades of experience shows in the foundation of work he developed as the State Fleet Manager and continues to benefit the state each day.”

Among Madsen’s repeated recognition is operating one of the top green automotive fleets in government. As a recipient of the Top 50 Government Green Fleets from 2008-2016 and other industry fleet awards, Mr. Madsen lead the effort in getting Colorado’s capitol building LEED-EB certified. This was the first of its kind among all state capitol buildings throughout the United States. He also lead the Tax Pipeline Project to improve the processing of State tax documents, which will serve as a road map for future efficiency and service in the years to come.

Scott’s dedication to customer service, quality and excellence will be remembered by all who worked with him both at the State and NCSFA. We wish you well in your retirement and future endeavors!
